COMMENCEMENT WEEK

Abbot and Phillips Academies will hold their Annual Commencement Exercises Next Week. Baccalaureate Sermons Sunday. Graduation Exercises.

Phillips and Abbot Academies will hold their annual commencement exercises next week. The programs will be about as usual in both academies, with the exception that the exercises at Phillips will have a military tinge, as military maneuvers and ceremonies, at 3.30 p.m., will be added to Thursday's usual program, and also a night attack on the trenches at 9 p.m.

The baccalaureate sermon at Abbot will be preached June 9, at 10.30 a.m., by Prof. John Winthrop Platner, acting president of Andover Theological Seminary. Professor Platner is well known in Andover and many will have the privilege of hearing him at the South church as he preaches to the graduates and students his baccalaureate sermon. Graduation exercises at Abbot Academy will take place Tuesday, the 11th, at 11 a.m., when Dr. Robert Elliot Spear will make the address at the South Church.

Rev. J. Ross Stevenson, D.D., president of Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N. J., will preach the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of Phillips Academy the same day, June 9, at 4.30 p.m., in the Stone Chapel.

Commencement exercises will take place Friday at 10.30 a.m., and the Alumni Dinner at 1 p.m. in the Borden gymnasium, at which Rev. David James Burrell, D.D., class of '62, and pastor of the Collegiate Reformed Church of New York City, will preside. A number of reunions will take place, namely, '63, '68, '73, '78, '82, '83, '88, '93, '98. The class of '82 will hold its thirty-fifth reunion this year, as it was postponed last year.

The programs follow:—

Abbot Academy Commencement

The following program has been announced for the commencement at Abbot Academy for the present year:— Baccalaureate Sermon, Sunday, June 9, 10.30 a.m., Prof. John Winthrop Platner, D.D., in the South church.

REVIEW OF RED CROSS WORK

Second Red Cross Campaign Results in 4,300 Members and $21,100 Subscribed. Interesting Facts Concerning the Work Accomplished

Andover has made another record and this time it is in the matter of generosity. The second Red Cross drive is ended and with almost three times the quota subscribed to a worthy cause. The matter of raising 247 per cent of the assigned quota will be a source of pride to all the citizens, as well as a satisfaction to all liberal-minded people. The large gifts of $1000 and $500 from the large manufacturing corporations down to the $30 given by six Italians in Frye Village, show the spirit prevailing throughout Andover and the whole country. The following resume of the campaign by Rev. Frank R. Shipman, chairman of the local branch, will be of interest to all readers of the Townsman.

To the writer, the most significant item in last week's Townsman was the statement that the postoffice had sold $3375 worth of thrift stamps on one day of that week. And Andover had just given or pledged $21,100 to the Red Cross. There seems to be money enough afloat in the community. And we must prepare to give more. We are going to give more because more will be needed.

I have begun this review of the campaign for the Second Red Cross War Fund (asked for by the editor) by looking forward. Memories are not so important nowadays. Still, the memory of the recent success in raising 247 per cent of our assigned quota will have its value in adding to our confidence in future common efforts.

Of course Andover would have exceeded its quota anyway. The whole country did that. The wonder in the business for us was precisely what the wonder was everywhere else,—the outpouring of generous gifts from old and young, rich and poor, Mayflower descendants and immigrants of a few years back. The Andover fund received three $1000 gifts, and along with them we may count the ten pennies which came in from an unknown child. A list of the individual givers will be found in another column, but attention may be drawn here to the corporation gifts of $1000 from the Converse Rubber Shoe Company, and of $500 apiece from the Andover National Bank, the Ballard Vale Mills Company, and the M. T.

Stevens' Sons Company. The gift of $42 from the little Holt district sewing circle shows how interest follows doing, and the $30 from six Italian men in Frye Village shows that they who have seen Europe realize what is going on there. The twenty cents which a vegetable boy gave to a party of white-robed Red Cross workers on their way back from Marlard Mill show that parades have their impressiveness; but we had all seen it on the first night of the campaign. Speaking of that, while St. Matthew's lodge was prevented from marching, they spent part of the marching time in voting $25 for the fund. But contributions from lodges, clubs, guilds, etc., were too numerous to allow listing them. The personal contributors were about 4300 in all. Every officer and employee in the Ballard Vale mill and the Smith & Dove mill was a giver, and the same was nearly true of the other mills in town. The Smith & Dove contribution amounted to $700 and the Tyler Rubber collection to $500. Every teacher and child in the Stowe school united to give $80, and there were few left out from the list of givers in the Bradley, John Dove, Jackson and Indian Ridge schools. Our two big boarding-schools cooperated nobly. Abbot Academy was a 100 per cent giver (faculty, students, and domestic staff) with $440, and Phillips Academy gave $1253.

The figures here printed of the monies obtained by the various teams are not absolutely correct, and it must be remembered that the teams differed widely both in their size and in the wealth of the territory which they covered. When it comes to assigning credit to the individual teams, there is practically nothing to choose.

The Right-of-way Team Mr. Cheney's, $8900; Mrs. C. S. Buchanan's, $2530; Mr. Stearns' (Phillips Academy), $1253; Mrs. J. C. Sawyer's, $918; Miss Kuhn's (covering all the factories except Smith & Dove's), $850; Mrs. C. J. Francis', $722; Smith & Dove, $700; F. H. Hardy's, $469; Miss Gangan's, $468; Miss Louise Hardy's, $457; Abbot Academy, $440; Miss Charlotte Hill's, $235; Mrs. Partridge's, $169; Mrs. John McGrath's, $145; Men's Saturday team, $118; Mrs. Cheyney's $506. Fires in the Home are easier to prevent than to extinguish. Practically every dwelling-house fire is due to carelessness or neglect. Don't hang clothes where they will be near hot chimneys or stove-pipes.

Note: Have all useless materials and rubbish regularly removed from your house and burned, as they are unnecessary accumulations and dangerous also are the cause of many fires.

Charlie Chaplin makes his 1918 screen

debut in the most ambitious effort of his career, entitled "A Dog's Life,"

which will be shown at the Colonial theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

Most producers think that they have their hands full when they undertake to handle a cast of twenty human beings,

but Charlie Chaplin learned that such a job is a mere bag of shelled peanuts

compared with the task of putting twenty stray canines through their paces. However, he succeeded in this achievement with unique success, as anyone will testify after witnessing a showing of "A Dog's Life."

"The Blue Bird," an Arterial picture,

will be shown next Friday and Saturday.

It is an adaptation from Maeterlinck's

masterpiece, which has attracted wide attention in the dramatic and literary world. The great author took for his subject a little boy and girl, and for them he drew aside the curtain of life,

delved into the past and touched elo-quently upon the great Beyond. Settings of colossal size and ensembles of hundreds of people make this photoplay

a mighty spectacular offering in which the artistic details have been carefully looked after.

SHUBERT

For a year the United States Government camera men have been busy getting the activities of our soldier and sailor boys registered on thousands of feet of motion-picture film. As a result of this work the people of New England

will have the first opportunities at the

Shubert theatre beginning next Monday, June 10th, and twice daily thereafter, to see what has been done by our boys up to date over here and over there.

area in America is in Canada where in most of the provinces women now vote.

With suffrage in New Zealand and Australia, with England's six million women enfranchised, the United States is the only English-speaking country where suffrage for women as well as men

does not prevail.

Any woman in Andover who cares to join the Andover Equal Suffrage League

—no dues—may do so by simply notifying an officer of member of her desire.

Food Conservation Notes

All who attended the splendid demonstration of the making of cottage cheese and its utilization in cooking, held in Punchard Hall Wednesday afternoon,

agreed that it was one of the most helpful and interesting meetings ever held in Andover. Mrs. George S. Ladd, former lecturer of the State Grange, had charge. Mrs. Ladd is a skilful demonstrator and a convincing speaker.

During the past winter she was called to Washington by the Federal Government to study the new method of making cheese from sweet milk. She is now trying to enlist the women of Massachusetts to put cottage cheese

"over the top" in this state and to realize the nutritive value of cheese, and particularly its high percentage of protein or muscle-forming materials and to become experienced and skilful in planning meals in which cheese is substituted for meat, and prepared in appetizing ways and served in attractive combinations in the daily bill of fare.

Mrs. Ladd told of a cheese luncheon served to the Rotary Club of Springfield, which gave so much satisfaction that she was invited to take charge of a similar luncheon at a conference of four thousand business men to be held in Kansas City the last of June.

Besides showing the method of making plain cottage cheese, Mrs. Ladd served an attractive salad cheese sausage, and a fried bread cheese sandwich, which could be served with tomato sauce, and told how to make whey honey, and cottage cheese tarts with conservation pie crust. New bulletins have been prepared by the Department of Agriculture on this subject and will be distributed at the Patriotic Food Center on Essex street.

Mrs. James Feeney will present this subject in the near future for the benefit of those who were not fortunate in hearing Mrs. Ladd on Wednesday. Mrs.

Ladd was assisted by Mrs. A. B. Le-

Boutillier, Mrs. James Feeney, Mrs.

Arthur Boutwell, Mrs. F. G. Cheney,

and Mrs. B. M. Allen.

Plans have already been made to start neighborhood groups where it will be possible to show the value of cheese

as a substitute for meat, since it is so

The map Mrs. Johnson showed presented the advance of suffrage in America was most interesting. From one state in 1869, full suffrage has spread to twelve states; six others have presidential suffrage for women and two states have now broken the ranks of the solid South by giving their women primary suffrage. The largest suffrage

"Pershing's Crusaders" is the title of this first official government feature film of the war and it really constitutes

a motion-picture history of our first year at war. Secretary of War Baker is seen on his first tours of inspection in France, examining the great guns, the aeroplane squadrons and our troops themselves. General Pershing and his staff accompany him in his visits to the camps of our "Crusaders."

In order that all may see the pictures,

a special sale of prices, 25 cents and 50

cents, at all performances, is arranged.

COPLEY

"The Liars" will be remembered as one of the most successful of last season's plays at the Copley theatre. Its revival next week will therefore be welcome. "The Liars" sparkles with brilliant dialogue. It deals with the foibles

of English social life, and it contains

much of the wit to be found in a London

drawing-room. It takes a critical situation in the married life of an English couple, weaves a story around it, and

carries it forward in extremely realistic

and romantic fashion.

The cast of "The Liars" at the

Copley will bring forward practically

the same players who appeared in it on the first presentation a year ago. Miss

Gwladys Morris will return to her role of Lady Jessica Nepean, and the cast will include Beatrice Miller, Jessamine New-

combe, Viola Roach, Florence Leeleer, Cameroon Glenister, Leonard Craske, Cameron Matthews, B. N. Lewis, Fred W.

Permain, Nicholas Joy, and H. Con-

way Wingfield.

PLYMOUTH

More than once it has been remarked

that there is nothing new under the sun.

Once in a long while, however, there is unearthed a novelty that is at once so

put into print the names of the general campaign officers and the parade officers. A word ought to be added regarding Mr. Crowley's services as treasurer. When he agreed to act in this office, he did not suspect how much time he would be obliged to take from his store and his garden for work that was always clear-headed and good-tempered. Every one knows how well the parade marshals did their work, starting their procession on time and marching it into place on Brothers Field on time. One whose part in collecting the gifts and pledges was a large part has written, "I believe that the remarkable ease with which this has been done was due, to a large extent, to our sharing in the parade and the exercises at Brothers Field." The mass meetings on Sunday night were fine and worthy echoes of the parade.

No matter how ready people are to give, many of them wait to be asked; and so the canvassers stand at a vital spot in the whole fund-raising. The Andover canvassers numbered 140. They fulfilled their tasks with cheerfulness and spirit, and did not spare themselves in time and in trying again. Of course they did not meet with many rebuffs, though there were some. A woman who said, "Why should I give for this war? I haven't a son in it," is remembered, and the man who laughed in the canvasser's face derisively is not forgotten. But these people cannot be cured by scolding. The springs of their pity must be reached somehow. Perhaps a few copies of the "Red Cross Magazine" would be as good a method to use as any.

The concluding lists are as follows: Four-minute speakers: Joseph L. Burns, Dr. E. C. Conroy, Charles H. Forbes, Miss Anna W. Kuhn, John F. O'Connell, Alfred E. Stearns.

Canvassers: Mrs. Chester Abbott, Miss Florence Abbott, Mrs. Stephen Abbott, Bernard M. Allen, Lucy Anne Allen, John C. Angus, Maude Arey, Irene Atwood, Samuel N. Baker, Cecil K. Parmelee, Mrs. Martha Pearson, Marion Peck, Edna Perkins, Carl F. Platteicher, John L. Phillips, Mrs. Thomas W. Platt, Horace M. Poynter, David Preston, Mrs. F. L. Purdon, Mrs. H. A. S. Read, Alfred L. Ripley, Mrs. Herbert Russell, Mrs. James Sawyer, Mrs. George L. Selden, Mrs. C. W. Scott, Amelia Shapleigh, William Simpson, Elizabeth M. Smith, Roy E. Spencer, Emily Sprague, Mrs. B. F. Stafford, Gertrude Stark, Frederick W. H. Stott, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Thompson, Frances Thompson, Oswald Tower, Mrs. Catherine Trow, Mrs. H. K. Veazie, Mrs. James Walker, Mrs. Salmon Walker, Katherine E. Walsh, Edith Whitman, Mrs. Margaret Wickens, Annie Wood.

Still thinking of the machinery of the campaign, thanks are due to the officials of the mills and schools who have eased the collection of pledges, to the business men who gave service at reduced rates, the owners of headquarters for their courtesies, and those three high school girls who came to the rooms to do clerical work freely. There are others who have not been mentioned. They, like the great army of givers, receive their thanks in their own knowledge that they are having a share in relieving the terrible suffering which so many of their fellowmen are enduring at the present time.

Red Cross Nurses

The question of securing trained nurses for the Red Cross in the hospitals of the Army and Navy at home and abroad has become a serious one. Trained nurses are an indispensable part of the military establishment, as without them hospitals are useless and the wounded cannot be properly cared for.

The immediate call from the Red Cross is for trained and registered nurses. One thousand more must be enrolled by the middle of June, largely for service at home. Then by the first of the year 24,000 additional must be enrolled. For the latter quota a great many nurses now in training should be available, but for the 1000 call of course only those nurses already trained and registered are available.

Never in the history of the world has the demand for competent nurses been so great; never has any person been privileged to render to his or her country, and the world at large, a greater service than the American nurse has today. Thousands upon thousands of nurses will be needed. Those who enroll now will have the privilege of forming the pioneer corps which will receive the gratitude of the military and naval authorities; the blessings of the American forces at the front, and the homage of the American people at large.

Under the provision of the Government Insurance Law enacted for the protection of the Army and Navy, nurses assigned to duty as members of the Army and Navy Nurse Corps will be able to obtain at nominal rates, protection for themselves as well as for designated members of their families dependent upon them. Such provision has never before been made for Army and Navy nurses. She will have the infinite satisfaction of knowing that she is lessening the sufferings of the boys of her own country; those bound to her by ties of blood, friendship and national brotherhood.

While the appeal in this campaign is to be made directly to the registered nurse, a highly important factor in the success of the campaign is the nurse-employing public. Thousands of nurses are being employed by persons who could dispense with their services without injury to themselves. These nurses in many instances are retained by the well-to-do, partly in the capacity of companions. Many others are retained in cases of minor illnesses where the services of a trained nurse are really not needed.

It is the duty of the public to conserve nursing activities as much as to conserve food. For any person to retain the services of a trained nurse needlessly means that that person selfishly or thoughtlessly deprives a large number of our sick and wounded soldiers of aid that would preserve their health or their lives. Divisions and chapters are urged to impress this situation on the people by every means possible.

It has come to the knowledge of the Department of Nursing of the American Red Cross, that many persons desiring to employ a nurse have specified that she be not enrolled in the Red Cross, because of their fear that the nurse may be called to service in the Army and Navy Corps and that a change would be necessary. The result has been that many of the most patriotic women in the world—the nurses who have signified their willingness to share in the hardships, the dangers and privations incident to war—have been discriminated against while they were waiting for the call to military duty, and their places taken by the selfish nurse who has not enrolled and who stays at home to reap the financial benefits made possible to her by the patriotism of her sister nurses.

Not only can the public be passively helpful by dispensing with unnecessary services of registered nurses, but it can be actively helpful by insisting—in cases where the services of a registered nurse are actually needed—that the nurses employed be enrolled Red Cross nurses.

The nurse enrolled through the Red Cross, in the services of her country, stands ready to sacrifice all, even her life if necessary, for love of country. She is entitled to the sympathy, the support and interest of the millions of women whose husbands, brothers and sons are fighting for its safety. Not only should the women of the country encourage nurses who have this blessed opportunity for service, to volunteer promptly, but they should make every possible effort to protect the nurses who are holding themselves ready for service and share with them the responsibility and sacrifice.

No one believes, however, that the nurse-employing public has failed purposely in its duty to the enrolled Red Cross nurses; but in such a situation thoughtlessness or ignorance is as dangerous as deliberate discrimination against the nurse who has answered her country's call. If there is to be discrimination it should be against the unpatriotic nurse who seeks safety, ease and profit at the expense of those who are willing to serve their country.

It is generally agreed that there can be brought about material conservation of nursing activities in the hospitals of the country, thereby releasing nurses for their country's service. The hospitals, like the public and the physicians, no doubt are ready to cooperate when the matter is set before them. They can cooperate by employing as head nurses those who are not eligible for Red Cross service because of age, slight physical disability, or family ties.

To sum up: It is important to impress on the public the fact that there exists a compelling demand for registered nurses, that no more urgent need exists today and that no factor can be more important in the winning of this war than adequate care of our sick and wounded.

debut in the most ambitious effort of

his career, entitled "A Dog's Life,"

which will be shown at the Colonial

theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

Most producers think that they have their hands full when they undertake to handle a cast of twenty human beings,

but Charlie Chaplin learned that such a

job is a mere bag of shelled peanuts

compared with the task of putting

twenty stray canines through their paces. However, he succeeded in this achievement with unique success, as

anyone will testify after witnessing a

showing of "A Dog's Life."

"The Blue Bird," an Arcturion picture,

will be shown next Friday and Saturday.

It is an adaptation from Maeterlinck's

masterpiece, which has attracted wide

attention in the dramatic and literary

world. The great author took for his subject a little boy and girl, and for them he drew aside the curtain of life,

delved into the past and touched elo-

quently upon the great Beyond. Settings of colossal size and ensembles of hundreds of people make this photoplay

a mighty spectacular offering in which

the artistic details have been carefully looked after.

SHUBERT

For a year the United States Government camera men have been busy getting the activities of our soldier and sailor boys registered on thousands of feet of motion-picture film. As a result of this work the people of New England

will have the first opportunities at the

Shubert theatre beginning next Monday, June 10th, and twice daily there-

after, to see what has been done by our

boys up to date over here and over there.

ANDOVER Equal Suffrage League

Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Andover

Equal Suffrage League was held on Friday, May 31, at 3 o'clock, in Punc-hard Hall. The league decided at the first of the year not to demand too much of its members, in order that they might devote their time to the war work of the town organizations. Nevertheless, the secretary's report for the year showed a good many activities, especially along the line of war work.

Last October a public lecture on Food

Conservation was held at the Guild;

later in the month assistance was given to the State Suffrage Association in its bazaar at the Copley-Plaza; the proceeds, amounting to $16,000, were devoted to war work.

In February enough money was raised in Andover to furnish a room at the Suffrage Coffee House at Ayer, which provides recreation rooms and restaurant service under proper and pleasant conditions for soldiers and their women friends.

In March the Andover League sent postals to all the women registered in

"Pershing's Crusaders" is the title of

this first official government feature

film of the war and it really constitutes

a motion-picture history of our first year at war. Secretary of War Baker is seen on his first tour of inspection in France, examining the great guns, the

aeroplane squadrons and our troops

themselves. General Pershing and his staff accompany him in his visits to the camps of our "Crusaders."

In order that all may see the pictures,

a special sale of prices, 25 cents and 50

cents, at all performances, is arranged.

COPLEY

"The Liars" will be remembered as one of the most successful of last season's plays at the Copley theatre. Its

revival next week will therefore be welcome. "The Liars" sparkles with brilliant dialogue. It deals with the foibles

of English social life, and it contains

much of the wit to be found in a London

drawing-room. It takes a critical situation in the married life of an English

couple, weaves a story around it, and

carries it forward in extremely realistic

and romantic fashion.

The cast of "The Liars" at the

Copley will bring forward practically

the same players who appeared in it on the first presentation a year ago. Miss

Gladys Morris will return to her role of Lady Jessica Nepean, and the cast will include Beatrice Miller, Jessamine New-

combe, Viola Roach, Florence Leclercq,

Lionel Glenister, Leonard Craske, Cameron Matthews, B. N. Lewis, Fred W.

Permain, Nicholas Joy, and H. Con-

way Wingfield.

PLYMOUTH

More than once it has been remarked

that there is nothing new under the sun.

Once in a long while, however, there is

unearthed a novelty that is at once so striking, by reason of its originality and its cleverness, as to cause the onlooker to rub his eyes in a maze of wonder.

It is just this kind of novelty that

William Rock and Frances White promise theatregoers in the program arranged for their two weeks' limited engagement, which will take place at the Plymouth theatre, beginning next Monday, June

10. During this engagement Miss

White will sing some of the famous songs that have greatly contributed to her success, among them being "Mississippi," "Monkey in the Zoo," "Six Times Six," and "Goesinto." Mr.

Rock will include many clever impersonations in his act.

Food Conservation Notes

All who attended the splendid demonstration of the making of cottage cheese

agreed that it was one of the most helpful and interesting meetings ever

held in Andover. Mrs. George S. Ladd,

put into print the names of the general campaign officers and the parade officers. A word ought to be added regarding Mr. Crowley's services as treasurer. When he agreed to act in this office, he did not suspect how much time he would be obliged to take from his store and his garden for work that was always clear-headed and good-tempered. Everyone knows how well the parade marshals did their work, starting their procession on time and marching into place on Brothers Field on time. One whose part in collecting the gifts and pledges was a large part has written, "I believe that the remarkable ease with which this has been done was due, to a large extent, to our sharing in the parade and the exercises at Brothers Field." The mass meetings on Sunday night were fine and worthy echoes of the parade.

No matter how ready people are to give, many of them wait to be asked; and so the canvassers stand at a vital spot in the whole fund-raising. The Andover canvassers numbered 140. They fulfilled their tasks with cheerfulness and spirit, and did not spare themselves in time and in trying again. Of course they did not meet with many rebuffs, though there were some. A woman who said, "Why should I give for this war? I haven't a son in it," is remembered, and the man who laughed in the canvasser's face derisively is not forgotten. But these people cannot be cured by scolding. The springs of their pity must be reached somehow. Perhaps a few copies of the "Red Cross Magazine" would be as good a method to use as any.

The concluding lists are as follows: Four-minute speakers: Joseph L. Burns, Dr. E. C. Conroy, Charles H. Forbes, Miss Anna W. Kuhn, John F. O'Connell, Alfred E. Stearns.

Canvassers: Mrs. Chester Abbott, Miss Florence Abbott, Mrs. Stephen Abbott, Bernard M. Allen, Lucy Anne Allen, John C. Angus, Maude Arey, Irene Atwood, Samuel N. Baker, Cecil K. Veazie, Mrs. James Walker, Mrs. Salmon Walker, Katherine E. Walsh, Edith Whitman, Mrs. Margaret Wickens, Annie Wood.

Still thinking of the machinery of the campaign, thanks are due to the officials of the mills and schools who have eased the collection of pledges, to the business men who gave service at reduced rates, the owners of headquarters for their courtesies, and those three high school girls who came to the rooms to do clerical work freely. There are others who have not been mentioned. They, like the great army of givers, receive their thanks in their own knowledge that they are having a share in relieving the terrible suffering which so many of their fellowmen are enduring at the present time.

Red Cross Nurses

The question of securing trained nurses for the Red Cross in the hospitals of the Army and Navy at home and abroad has become a serious one. Trained nurses are an indispensable

part of the military establishment, as without them hospitals are useless and the wounded cannot be properly cared for.

The immediate call from the Red Cross is for trained and registered nurses. One thousand more must be enrolled by the middle of June, largely for service at home. Then by the first of the year 24,000 additional must be enrolled. For the latter quota a great many nurses now in training should be available, but for the 1000 call of course only those nurses already trained and registered are available.

Never in the history of the world has the demand for competent nurses been so great; never has any person been privileged to render to his or her country, and the world at large, a greater service than the American nurse has today. Thousands upon thousands of nurses will be needed. Those who enroll now will have the privilege of forming the pioneer corps which will receive the gratitude of the military and naval authorities; the blessings of the American forces at the front, and the homage of the American people at large.

Under the provision of the Government Insurance Law enacted for the protection of the Army and Navy, nurses assigned to duty as members of the Army and Navy Nurse Corps will be able to obtain at nominal rates, protection for themselves as well as for designated members of their families dependent upon them. Such provision has never before been made for Army and Navy nurses. She will have the infinite satisfaction of knowing that she is lessening the sufferings of the boys of her own country; those bound to her by ties of blood, friendship and national brotherhood.

While the appeal in this campaign is to be made directly to the registered nurse, a highly important factor in the success of the campaign is the nurse-employing public. Thousands of nurses are being employed by persons who could dispense with their services without injury to themselves. These nurses in many instances are retained by the well-to-do, partly in the capacity of companions. Many others are retained in cases of minor illnesses where the services of a trained nurse are really not needed.

It is the duty of the public to conserve nursing activities as much as to conserve food. For any person to retain the services of a trained nurse needlessly means that that person selfishly or thoughtlessly deprives a large number of our sick and wounded soldiers of aid that would preserve their health or their lives. Divisions and chapters are urged to impress this situation on the people by every means possible.

It has come to the knowledge of the Department of Nursing of the American Red Cross, that many persons desiring to employ a nurse have specified that she be not enrolled in the Red Cross, because of their fear that the nurse may be called to service in the Army and Navy Corps and that a change would be necessary. The result has been that many of the most patriotic women in the world—the nurses who have signified their willingness to share in the hardships, the dangers and privations incident to war—have been discriminated against while they were waiting for the call to military duty, and their places taken by the selfish nurse who has not enrolled and who stays at home to reap the financial benefits made possible to her by the patriotism of her sister nurses.

Not only can the public be passively helpful by dispensing with unnecessary services of registered nurses, but it can be actively helpful by insisting—in cases where the services of a registered nurse are actually needed—that the nurse employed be enrolled Red Cross nurse.

The nurse enrolled through the Red Cross, in the services of her country, stands ready to sacrifice all, even her life if necessary, for love of country. She is entitled to the sympathy, the support and interest of the millions of women whose husbands, brothers and sons are fighting for its safety. Not only should the women of the country encourage nurses who have this blessed opportunity for service, to volunteer promptly, but they should make every possible effort to protect the nurses who are holding themselves ready for service and share with them the responsibility and sacrifice.

No one believes, however, that the nurse-employing public has failed purposely in its duty to the enrolled Red Cross nurses; but in such a situation thoughtlessness or ignorance is as dangerous as deliberate discrimination against the nurse who has answered her country's call. If there is to be discrimination it should be against the un-patriotic nurse who seeks safety, ease and profit at the expense of those who are willing to serve their country.

It is generally agreed that there can be brought about material conservation of nursing activities in the hospitals of the country, thereby releasing nurses for their country's service. The hospitals, like the public and the physicians, no doubt are ready to cooperate when the matter is set before them. They can cooperate by employing as head nurses those who are not eligible for Red Cross service because of age, slight physical disability, or family ties.

To sum up: It is important to impress on the public the fact that there exists a compelling demand for registered nurses, that no more urgent need exists today and that no factor can be more important in the winning of this war than adequate care of our sick and wounded.

THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN

ANDOVER MASSACHUSETTS

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY
AT THE PRESS BUILDING BY THE ANDOVER PRESS
JOHN N. COLS

Entered at Andover Postoffice as Second Class Matter

"Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just,
And this be our motto—"In God is our trust:"
And the star-spangled banner in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave."

Our Memorial Day, 1918

It was a notable one, in some respects perhaps the most notable one of all the public meetings in memory of the Civil War and the men of Andover who had a part in it. Is it recalled that this was the fiftieth of the annual memorial celebrations in our town? The first one was held on Saturday, May 30, 1868, just half a century ago. It was started with little time for preparation by the teachers and pupils of Abbot Academy, aided by the other two institutions of Andover Hill. The exercises were held in the old Bartlett Chapel and were quite simple. Professor Thayer, who had been an army chaplain, offered prayer, and Professor Churchill read "Patriotic selections"—it is easy for those whose memory covers only half of the fifty years to realize how patriotically that accomplished elocutionist and true-hearted man would have rendered those selections! The procession of students and citizens visiting the Chapel, South and Episcopal cemeteries was headed by Leverett Bradley, who had served through the war in the "1st Mass. Heavy", and was then a "miller" in Phillips. Afterward becoming the honored and beloved rector of Christ church, he gave the Memorial Day address in 1886.

The speaker this year was a notable one, too. Mr. George T. Eaton of the Academy faculty, who sat next me in the town hall, said as the speaker arose, "Judge White was my classmate at Amherst and was rated as the best orator in the class." Certainly, Judge White has held that priority right up to date! The style of his address was unique, but most effective. The occasion did not call for a review of the war of 1861-65. All recognized the terrible fact of the present war—perhaps the greatest in the world's history—when a million of our countrymen, more or less

(we hope it will soon be more) are risking their lives over the sea for the victory of democracy, freedom and right. So it was fitting that the oration should take the form of a message of profound and cordial greeting to "My Dear General Foch" at the head of the Allied Armies in France. If that great warrior takes the Townsman he will surely be heartened as he reads that message from Andover, Massachusetts!

One other notable feature of the occasion was the decreased number of old soldiers in attendance. They no longer needed settees on the floor—there was room for all on the platform! The Townsman account gave the present total membership of our Grand Army post as twenty-two. Can anyone state just how many were present? How we missed Brainard Cummings and Charles H. Gilbert and Henry S. Robinson and Peter D. Smith and John L. Smith and John B. Jenkins, and now, for the first time, Professor Ryder, the kindly memory of whom was shown by the profusion of flowers strewn upon his last resting place in "God's acre" on the Hill!

The mention of one other thing will interest the elders among the Townsman readers. I have recently discovered among my old papers a little memorandum book of the "Records of the Veteran Home Guards of Andover", in the plain hand of Josiah B. Clough. The names are given, twenty-nine in number, and brief notes of their meetings. As they were over forty-five (in 1862), they are of course all gone now. The names are familiar—William Jenkins, Samuel Raymond, Edward Buck, Samuel C. Jackson, Peter Smith, Jonathan Swift, Simon Wardwell, Ebenezer Jenkins, Daniel P. Abbott, and so on. We have a similar "Home Guard" of citizens now, and the notes will be preserved for them and any others in some accessible place.

Mothers' Club Meeting

The Andover Mothers' Club held its annual meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Samuel C. Jackson school and there was a large attendance. Mrs. James J. Feeney president was in charge and reports of the year's work were presented by the various officers. Mrs. B. M. Allen gave the secretary's report and Mrs. Carl Elander the treasurer's which showed the club to have had a successful year.

The following letter of appreciation was read from Mr. Sanborn, superintendent of schools:

To the Andover Mother's Club:

I am taking this opportunity to thank you for your constant interest in the welfare of the public schools. During the last two months this has been apparent in many ways but two have impressed me deeply.

Your untiring zeal in making the suits for the children rendered possible the successful carrying on of the Fresh Air School. This school has been very beneficial to the children and you may be assured that I am expressing the feeling of all who have been interested in this work when I say that we appreciate very much all that you did and that now we are pleased to extend to you our deepest gratitude.

The other is a more personal matter. You have given me infinite pleasure through the beautiful picture which you have presented to the schools to hang in my office. It would have been impossible to have made a better selection. The size, coloring and subject are all in harmony with my own taste and the spirit and general condition of the office. The picture will certainly be a great pleasure to me as long as I am in Andover and a constant reminder of your kindness and generosity.

Very truly yours,
Henry C. Sanborn.

The club voted $25 to the Public Health Assn. for Child Welfare work, and a collection was taken for the support of two French war orphans.

The Red Cross Sewing meetings held at the Guild house will be held during the summer months at the homes of members and the first meeting will be with Mrs. Carl Elander, Thursday, June 20.

Officers elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. James J. Feeney; 1st vice-pres., Mrs. Charles S. Buchan; 2nd vice-pres., Mrs. Otis Keith; secy., Mrs. Bernard M. Allen; treas., Mrs. Carl Elander; directors, Mrs. Frank M. Foster, Mrs. Frank Valpey, Mrs. James Walker, auditor, Mrs. William Brown. Refreshments were served by Mrs. P. W. Partridge, Mrs. Fred G. Cheney, Mrs. Wicken, Mrs. James Walker and Mrs. Charles S. Buchan.

Abbot Academy Notes

The Commencement festivities at Abbot will begin with a school rally Saturday evening. Many of the parents and friends of the graduating class and returning alumnae will have come by that time, and they will have an opportunity to see a short military drill and hear many of the songs that the students have sung for various gala times during the year. On Sunday morning at 10:30 Professor John Winthrop Plattner will preach the Baccalaureate sermon in the South Church. Monday morning at 10:30 the Draper readings will be given in Davis Hall. The Draper Readers are: Julia Abbe, Elizabeth Armstrong, Mildred Coleman, Grace Kepner, Elenore Taylor, Faith Williams and Helen Wygant. In the afternoon a lawn party is to be given for the seniors and their guests. At 8:00 p. m. a musical will be given in Davis Hall by the pupils of the piano, organ, violin, violoncello and voice departments. Tuesday morning, June 11th, the ceremonies of planting the class tree and class ivy will be held at 10:30. From there the procession of trustees, faculty, and students will proceed directly to the South Church, where the graduation exercises will begin at 11:00. Robert Elliott Speer, D.D. will make the Commencement address. The alumnae will have their annual meeting in Abbot Hall at 2:00.

Andover-Exeter Baseball Game

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock the baseball team will finish the season by playing Exeter. The scores of the preliminary games show the Crimson to be a heavy favorite, but the Blue is determined and is likely to give the New Hampshire school a big surprise. No lineups have definitely been announced yet, but it is probable that Andover's will be as follows:—
Early, 1b.
Kent, s.s.
Dodd, c.f.
Gross, c.
Daugherty, Richmond, r.f.
Graham, 3b.
Kahn, 1f.
Gallagher, 2b.
Bailey or Stevens, p.

The Academy Church

At the recent annual meeting of the Church of Christ in Phillips Academy the following were elected deacons for the coming year: Messrs. G. F. French, C. F. Platteicher, Oswald Tower and M. S. McCurdy of the faculty; Huntington Day, William L. Morgan, Jr., Gordon P. Marshall, George R. Bailey of the class of 1919, and George H. Ferguson and Luther S. Hammond, Jr., of the class of 1920, representing the student body.

MILITARY EXHIBITION

Massachusetts State Guard Holds
Drill on Brothers Field

Last evening a military exhibition was given by Company H, 16th Regiment, M. S. G., on Brothers Field. An audience of about 200 witnessed the maneuvers which were highly creditable. The rain of the afternoon did not interfere materially with the exhibition of the company, but lessened the attendance. The following was the order and list of prizes and judges.

Close order drill under command of Lieut. Chapin.

Extended order work under command of Capt. Page.

Prize Drill in Manual of Arms under command of Lieut. Billington; 1st Prize Serg. H. A. Bodwell; Second Prize, Corp. R. H. Bradford; Third Prize, Private R. W. Thompson.

Judges: Capt. M. E. Peck, Cadet Major F. Furlow, Cadet Major, H. O. Tappan of Phillips Academy R. O. T. C., Regt.

Butts Manual under command of First Serg. Tyer.

Bayonet drill under command of Serg. Hamblin.

Refreshments were served to members of the company immediately after the drill under the direction of Mess Serg. Angus.

Meeting of School Board

At a meeting of the school board last evening Marion I. Ford of Fitchburg high school was elected supervisor of drawing. She is to devote two days a week to Andover. Miss Annie M. Downes, was released as principal of the John Dove and Samuel C. Jackson schools. She has taught 25 years in Andover schools. Mrs. Margaret Kimball is to take her place for the remainder of the school year.

Supt. Sanborn reported that the school enrollment for next fall will probably be less than a year ago. The Lawrence pupils at the North school are to be withdrawn, and there is to be one teacher less at the John Dove school.

The janitors' salary schedule was reconsidered and increases were allowed John Ralph and Patrick Driscoll at the Central schools, Rose Devou at the Bailey school, George Spickler at the Osgood school and the matron, Mrs. Mackintosh.

The committee voted to drop the school nurse for the period of the war. The members expressed appreciation of her work and also that of the Public Health association.

Wedding

GLEASON — ARCH

A large wedding of interest to Andover people took place at No. 91 Grant Avenue, Medford, last Saturday evening, June 1st, the officiating clergyman being Rev. F. A. Wilson of the Free Church of Andover.

The contracting parties were Ensign Harold L. Gleason of the U. S. Navy and Esther L. Arch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arch of Medford.

Ensign Gleason is the son of Frank E. and Marjorie Low Gleason of Dorchester who were married twenty-eight years ago by Mr. Wilson in Andover. Many relatives and friends from Boston, Lynn, Medford, Fitchburg and Andover were present, several of whom attended the wedding of the bridegroom's parents.

The happy couple will reside for the present in Buffalo, N. Y., where Ensign Gleason is stationed.

Baptist C. E. Elects Officers

The semi-annual business meeting of the Baptist church Christian Endeavor society was held in the Baptist church vestry on Monday evening with a large attendance of members. Clare Norton, president of the society, was in the chair.

During the business session reports of the various officers and the chairmen of the committees read their reports for the past six months.

Several new members were admitted into the society.

Officers were elected as follows for the coming six months: President, Mrs. John Bacon; vice-president, Arthur Ludlam; secretary, Miss Lena Lundgren; treasurer, Miss Effie Ross.

Remarks were made by the retiring president, Clare Norton, during which he thanked the members of the society for their excellent support during his term of leadership.

After the business session a social hour followed, during which vocal solos were rendered and games enjoyed by all present.

Refreshments consisting of strawberries, ice cream and cake were served to all.

The committee in charge consisted of the following: Robert O. Williams, chairman; Miss Martha Ludlam, Miss Amy Lundgren and Carl Wetterberg.

Whist Party for Red Cross

At the home of Mrs. Malcolm B. McTernan on Wednesday evening an enjoyable whist party was held, the proceeds, amounting to $17, being given over to the Red Cross. There were sixteen ladies present and following the playing of several rounds, refreshments were served. Those present were: Mrs. Frank A. Butttrick, Mrs. Charles A. Hill, Mrs. David L. Coutts, Mrs. Edmond E. Hammond, Mrs. John Houghton Flint, Mrs. Walter H. Thompson, Mrs. Herbert E. Russell, Mrs. John F. O'Connell, Mrs. Malcolm B. McTernan, Mrs. Arthur R. Jackson, Mrs. B. Frank Michelson, Miss Alice McTernan, Mrs. Harry Chadwick, Mrs. Margaret Wickens, Miss Jennie Hunter, Mrs. Herbert Erving.

W. S. S. Notes

Under the leadership of the women the campaign for the War Savings Stamps will take on a new activity in Massachusetts during the month of June.

The President has called on every person who is able to enlist in the Army of War Savers before June 28, National War Savings Day, to save the labor and material needed to supply our army and navy, and to lend the money thus saved to the government by buying War Savings Stamps.

The total amount the government asks during 1918, from the sale of War Savings and Thrift Stamps is $2,000,000,000; $20 for every man, woman and child in this country. Massachusetts' share is $78,000,000.

But this state is far below its proper standing in taking this great and needed loan. Out of all the states in the Union she stands only thirty-seventh; whereas, in buying Liberty Bonds, giving to the Red Cross, Y.M.C.A., or other war activities she stands among the very first.

The money invested in the War Savings Stamps is not a gift or a donation, but a loan. It will be paid back with 4 per cent interest compounded quarterly. If, for any reason cash is needed, the money invested may be secured on ten days' notice to any Money Order Postmaster. Stamps are free of all state and local taxes. They are backed by all the property in the United States; they cannot fall in value below the price you paid; they increase in value one cent a month.

Presentation to

Ex-Chief Charles S. Buchan

Wednesday evening Ex-Chief Charles S. Buchan was invited to the rooms of the Fire Station and presented with a gold chain and charm. The presentation was a total surprise to Mr. Buchan, but a well merited recognition of a long and successful period of service as fire chief. The charm was inscribed on one side with his name "Charles Sumner Buchan" and on the other "Presented by the Andover Fire Department 1894-1918."

Captain C. A. Hill made the presentation and in his remarks referred to the high regard with which Mr. Buchan was held by the men and his splendid usage of the men while chief. Mr. Buchan replied feelingly and spoke of the manner in which he had been treated by the department in his work.

Andover Men Enlist

The Boston recruiting station has given out the names of three Andover men enlisting last Saturday: James Duncan and Arthur Frotten of Essex street, and Roy Sharpe of Red Spring road. These men will join the Canadian Expeditionary Forces and expect to leave June twelve for Toronto.

James Duncan is an employee of the Smith & Dove Mfg. Co., and Arthur Frotten is employed by the Tye Rubber Company.

Last Monday Foster Barnard, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Barnard of High street, Walter S. Lawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Lawson of Maple avenue, and William J. Allison of Highland road, enlisted in the Naval Reserve and are awaiting orders.

George Davies of North Main street has enlisted in the Coast Artillery Corps and will report in the near future.

Grenfell Class

The Grenfell Class of the Free Church will make a trip to Camp Devens by auto tomorrow afternoon. Three members of the class are at Camp Devens. Corporal Thomas Dea, Privates Eric Wilson and Wendell Kydd.

There are twenty-four members of the class in the services at present and more will go. James Duncan leaves to join the Canadian Army next Wednesday.

Obituary

After a lingering illness of tubercular trouble, Edward McGovern passed peacefully away Monday morning at his home on North street, West Andover.

Last Saturday and Sunday he seemed to improve and sat up until quite late in the evening before he could be persuaded to retire. Monday morning very suddenly he passed away as though sinking into a deep sleep.

Mr. McGovern was born in the house where he died, January 8, 1882, and has lived all his life there, except for a few years spent in Lawrence. His health began to fail some years ago, and he traveled in several places hoping to find some climate where he would improve in health, but failed to do so. He was married to Miss Jennie Finucane of Lawrence. He attended the North school when a boy and the many friends of his boyhood will hear with sorrow of his early death. He was the oldest of a family of eleven children and when a boy was a comfort and help to his mother in her busy life, and a devoted brother to the younger children. Besides his sorrowing wife and four children, he leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McGovern of North street; three sisters: Mrs. Frank Biery of Lawrence, Mrs. John Collins of Andover, Mrs. John Massey at the home of his parents; five brothers: Frank at home, Henry, Louis and Joseph of New York, and Sidney of Lawrence.

Funeral services were held at St. Patrick's church Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, and were conducted by Father Gildea of South Lawrence. Burial was in the Immaculate Conception cemetery.

Card of Thanks

Mr. and Mrs. James McGovern and Mrs. Edward McGovern wish to thank their many kind friends for the many acts of kindness during the sickness, and for the messages of love and sympathy and beautiful floral tributes, at the death of their son and husband.

Large Increase in Red Cross Members

During the last six months the membership of the Red Cross Society has increased forty-four fold. There was a total of 500,000 members six months ago, and at present there are at least 22,000,000 members in the society. This number includes one-fifth or over of the population of the entire country and with this membership contributing to the treasury of this humane society, much distress should be relieved among the soldiers and poor of the country.

Chautauqua Meeting

The guarantors of the Andover Chautauqua met last week at the Merrimack Insurance Office. Professor Dunaway, manager of the Chautauqua, was present and made a number of suggestions as to the summer program. On account of some changes made in the district arrangement it was found necessary to change the dates as originally proposed. The dates are now decided on as July 1 to 5 inclusive. Dr. Thomas Green will give the address on Red Cross Day and his subject will be, "In This Thy Day."

The officers of the organization are: Miss Mary Alice Abbot, president; Frank L. Brigham, vice-president; John V. Holt, treasurer; Mrs. Colver J. Stone, secretary. Mrs. Harriet Wainwright is chairman of the hospitality committee and John C. Angus and Fred S. Boutwell a committee to select a site for the tent.

Andover Boys on Honor Roll

The following Andover boys received honors in five subjects at a recent rating at Phillips Academy: William Rollins Brewster—Chemistry, Algebra, German, French, Physics. Herbert Wells Hill—American History, Latin, Latin Composition, English, Solid Geometry.

Philo-School Debate

The annual debate for the Robinson prizes in Phillips Academy took place Saturday evening in the Stone Chapel. The prize of $30, to be divided among the three members of the winning team, was founded by Henry S. Robinson in 1896, the debate to take place between teams representing Philo and the school.

The question for the twenty-third competition was, resolved, "That in the United States women should be granted full suffrage."

The Philo team was made up of Harry K. Schaffler, Kansas City, Mo., Arthur S. Kane of Pelham Manor, N. Y., and John H. Paxton of Chinkiang, China.

On the school team were the following: Cargill MacMillan of Minneapolis, Minn., William R. Brewster of Andover, and George Van S. Smith of Richmond Hill, L. I., N. Y.

The affirmative side of the question was supported by the Philo team. The debate was well handled and considering the short time for preparation, the debaters presented strong arguments and delivered them in a clear and forcible manner. Each speaker was allowed ten minutes, and the leaders replied in rebuttal.

The committee of award consisted of Ralph N. C. Barnes, Charles T. Dole, and Dr. P. J. Look, all of Andover.

Tomorrow's Eclipse

The eclipse of the sun visible to about .63 of its surface in this vicinity, tomorrow evening, will be of special interest as it is the first total eclipse of the sun since 1900 and the next will not occur until 1923. The path of obscuration in the United States will traverse diagonally from the state of Washington in the west to Florida in the southeast. The Weather Bureau is making special measurements of the intensity of solar radiation, and will study the effect upon meteorological conditions. Efforts will be made to obtain accurate observations of pressure, temperature, wind direction and velocity and shadow bands, at a number of places in Nebraska, Colorado, Idaho, and Oregon, where the sun will be 90 per cent eclipsed. According to some astronomical students the eclipse will be almost total at Denver, and the Chamberlain observatory of that city will be a rendezvous of astronomers to study the sun's corona and take photographs.

If the atmosphere is clear at 6.30 tomorrow evening there will be a good opportunity to see the eclipse in this section. One of the simplest methods to observe the eclipse is to use a smoked glass, but as the sun will be a little more than half eclipsed, the shadow will be more or less visible with the naked eye. The cause of the eclipse is the moon coming between the earth and the sun, causing the sunlight to be cut off.

Medwin Matthews and James Carter have completed their second year studies at M. I. T. and are spending a few days at their homes in the parish.

The entertainment in charge of a number of the young girls in the parish and held in the Grange hall last Friday evening, was largely attended. The entertainment consisted of selections by an orchestra; vocal solo, Mrs. Grace Mayo; piano duet, Miss Marion Abbott and Mrs. Harry Wright; reading, Miss Mabel Marshall; selections, orchestra; vocal solo, Mrs. Lillian Carmichael; readings, Herbert Rose; music, violin and piano, Mary and Phebe Noyes; America, all; selections, orchestra. A farce, "Cupid's Columns", was presented by a number of young girls and a young man. After the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" by all, the young folks enjoyed dancing. Music was furnished by the orchestra. The sum of forty dollars was realized and is for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Grange News

Next Tuesday evening will be observed as "Bird Night" in the Grange and will be in charge of Rev. Newman Matthews.

Forty-six Andover Grangers visited North Andover Grange last Tuesday evening, when North Andover Grange furnished the entertainment for the evening, as it was Neighbors' Night in North Andover Grange.

The particular game; but the chief result was that the Americans were convinced of the superiority of the Canadian game, and when they came back gave this game its start. Today it is without doubt the most popular winter sport in the country.

This is a true story, not a fable, but like Aesop, it has a moral or two. First, as Capt. Foote and all must admit, it shows the necessity of an exchange. Second, it demonstrates that whirlwind and spectacular events of this sort may be excellent training for college graduates, who are planning to be of some use to their country in time to come. And finally, it proves that coming events cast their shadows before, being one of the first instances of sporting reciprocity with one of America's present Allies.—From the Trench and Camp, May 29.

Men of Military Age to be Watched

Men of selective service age who leave the United States to evade military duty will have to stand trial on charges of violations of the selective service act when they return to the country, according to the Department of Justice, even though they do not return until after the war.

The department has at hand information from which complete lists may be prepared of all men who have left the country to avoid service, says a recent statement authorized by the Attorney General.

Registration of German Women

The registration of German alien females, to begin Monday, June 17 and end Wednesday, June 26, will be conducted in cities or municipalities having 5,000 population or over by the police officials. In communities having a population of less than 5,000 the registration will be handled by postmasters.

In general the plan of registration is the same as that followed in the registration in February of German alien males. Each person who must register will be required to register her finger prints. This method of identification is also used in the military and naval services of the United States.

Another "Day" Coming

Peasant uprisings and crop-burning in the Ukraine will hasten the day when all Russia will again rally against the Germans.—From the Buffalo Express

At least two young men will go to Camp Devens this week.

A number of the local wool sorters have obtained work in Lawrence.

Harry Trow and Lewis Mears will leave for Camp Devens today.

William Cronin is making a brilliant record on the Punchard High School baseball team.

William Shaw is recovering after his recent operation. He is expected home on Saturday.

Quite a number of people from the village attended the circus in Lawrence on Wednesday.

Children's day will be observed in the local churches on Sunday with appropriate exercises.

Private Peter Quinn of Camp Devens spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Quinn, River street.

The family and friends of Edward Bailey, Jr., are anxiously waiting to hear of his safe arrival overseas. The Red Cross is investigating the matter.

The funeral of Miss Virley Stephenson was held Wednesday forenoon at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church. Interment was in the family lot in St. Augustine's cemetery, Andover.

An alarm from Box 24 Saturday afternoon brought the local hose company to Lowell Junction. The roof of the railroad station was found to be on fire. It was finally extinguished before much damage had been done. It is supposed that a spark from a passing locomotive caused the fire.

The public is cordially invited to inspect at the local library the patchwork made by the pupils of Miss Nelson's room and the knitted afghan by the pupils of Miss Spaulding's room. It is with considerable satisfaction and interest that the friends and parents of the scholars of the Bradlee school examine these articles on exhibition from time to time, fully appreciating the good work done by Miss Nelson and Miss Spaulding.

Dr. Parkhurst Resigns

Dr. Charles Parkhurst, pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, New York City, retired recently after forty-six years' service in the pulpit.

In an interview with the New York World reporter he tells how the world looks to him at the present time. Some of his ideas follow:

"It is a different world," he said, "a far different world from the world I preached to a few decades ago. It is not the pleasure-seeking, frivolous world of yesterday. It is a world chastened by adversity, and under the pressure of adversity it is experiencing a new spiritual birth. It is a serious world to-day, a world at grips with the fundamental realities."

"Through all these world changes," he said, "the laws of God do not change. Whatsoever a nation sows that shall it also reap. Germany will pay for this. Just how she will pay we may not be able to know, but it is certain that she will pay."

"We are fighting for our homes. When we have won that fight it is not likely that we shall voluntarily disband the institution for which we have made such a sacrifice. Only when we have let go of the eternal truths could we abolish the home and monogamous marriage."

"And they find it fun—every one of them," he said; "they find it fun to kill a Boche."

"Is the world going to become more cruel as it becomes more stern?" was asked.

"No," Dr. Parkhurst answered. "The period before the war was noted for much philanthropy, but it was not a period in which there was a general passion for human welfare. People were not compassionate so much as they were soft. They shrank from human suffering, but they did not devote themselves to stopping it. Often they gave their millions as they gave their pennies because they were not callous; but when the suffering was hidden from them they were generally content. The greatest cruelty of all is that which results from general indifference."

"Then, face to face as we had never been before with the great realities of life, our people began to seek anchorage more significant than anything to which their lives had been tied before. They began to realize the difference between eternal truths and the ephemeral things which had formerly been their goal. In the comfortable routine of the past we had given our souls to pleasure or to the accumulation of wealth. In the stern reality of the present such things could give no solace. That to me is the most significant change which the war has brought. It is a change, beyond question, for the better."

Punchard Again Defeats Lawrence High

The Punchard High School baseball team added another victory to its record on last Friday afternoon by defeating Lawrence High on the playstead by the score of 3 to 1, in a close and interesting contest. This was Punchard's second victory over the Lawrence team, they having won an early season game by the score of 17 to 1.

Lawrence scored their lone run in the fourth inning when Walsh, the first man up, was hit by a pitched ball. Caswell bunted and was safe at first on Holland's poor throw, Walsh going to second. Ford fanned. Cross singled, sending Walsh to third and Caswell to second. Aldred's fly to center was muffed by C. Dalton, Walsh scoring. W. Dalton picked the ball up and caught Caswell at third by a perfect throw to Walker. Christie fanned for the third out.

The Punchard team sewed up the game in the seventh when Dimlich, first man up, drew a pass. Holland hit to Bradley and reached first safely when Christie let the shortstop's throw get by him, allowing Dimlich to reach third. Holland stole second. Cronin singled to center, scoring Dimlich and Holland. Cronin went clear around to third when Kittredge let Caswell's throw to home get away from him. W. Dalton walked and stole second. Bowman singled to left, scoring Cronin. W. Dalton advancing to third. Walker flied out to Caswell and Partridge grounded out.

Cronin, Bowman and Holland excelled for Punchard, while Caswell, Kittredge and Cross starred for Lawrence. The summary:—

OUR BOYS "OVER THERE" ENJOY TOASTED CIGARETTES.

Through the patriotism of the citizens of this country thousands of smoke kits are being distributed to American soldiers in France. Authorities agree that men in the trenches need cigarettes almost as much as food and munitions.

Doctors, nurses, and commanding officers all join in the demand which has awakened in this country a great movement to keep our boys supplied with smokes.

Millions of the famous LUCKY STRIKE Cigarettes are "going over" all the time. There's something about the idea of the toasted cigarette that appeals to the men who spend their time in cold, wet trenches and billets.

Then, too, the real Kentucky Burley tobacco of the LUCKY STRIKE cigarette gives them the solid satisfaction of a pipe, with a lot less trouble.

Life at Camp Devens

Camp Devens, Mass.
June 1, 1918.

Dear Townsman:—

I cannot undertake to speak for the Andover contingent which came to camp five weeks ago, for, during the past ten days, we have scattered to the four corners of the cantonment, but perhaps some of our experiences may be of interest.

One day lists of assignments to other companies kept arriving at our quarters at frequent intervals, a number of men would be told to "fall out" and shortly after the command "get all your stuff together", they would be setting off amid the shouts of those left behind, with suitcases in one hand and mattresses rolled up, tied to the barracks bags, and slung over the shoulder.

Other groups would be seen laden down with cots as well and we counted ourselves lucky that we had had iron bedssteads and springs to sleep on. Although many friends and acquaintances were left behind, we were really glad to march off, for it meant more definite and specialized training for the work ahead, and what was of even more immediate advantage — our escape from quarantine and the freedom to roam about of an evening, drop into library, frequent the Liberty Theatre, visit friends in camp, and purchase the ice cream, chocolate, cooling drinks and the hundred and one other things with which Capt. Foote of Andover keeps the post exchanges, or canteens, so well supplied. No longer would we have to talk with out visitors over a fence but would be free to pilot them about camp. By night our numbers were cut in two and the next noon, on returning from a morning in the trenches — planting posts at intervals and buttressing them — I found that in my absence my belongings had been moved and that our old barracks were now deserted.

The diminishing remnant of our company soon began to feel like old timers, for that night a lot of rookies arrived in our midst from St. Johnsbury, Vt., and a few days later all the available sleeping space was taken by 150 or more men from Maine. Wilson made himself useful in filling out their service records and is now the only surviving Andover member of the 11th Company. In comparison with the efforts of the new men to "click those heels," "show some life" and "snap into it" at the command "atten-shun" we felt like veterans, although it hadn't been many days since our sergeant had told us that the only thing we did with the proper alacrity and "pep" was to fall out at the completion of a drill period! "About-face" and "to the rear — march," or "arch as it is usually pronounced, proved stumbling blocks for a time and many of the recruits had to be admonished to "sing it out" and "answer here" when their names were called.

Personally I have had my "blue denim" on the greater part of the past week and have been detailed on various forms of "fatigue" or as one of the "kitchen police," who become quite expert at peeling potatoes and scrubbing wood work and pans. Luckily the number of dishes they have to wash is limited as every man (in our company at least), after filling up to the counter and being served to liberal helpings of well cooked food, washed up his own aluminum mess kit outside. I don't mean to imply that no time is allowed for eating, although the food does seem to disappear as if by magic. Speaking of washing, we might also possibly qualify as laundrymen when we come back from the wars and at any rate will be handier about the house.

Morrill and I, after being transferred yesterday to the military police, are still undecided as to whether we will be candidates for the office of constable next March!

After jumping out of bed at 5.15, with ten minutes to get ready for reveille, and drilling out-doors the greater part of the day, a private usually feels that he has done a day's work when he has "stood retreat" at 5.30 and doesn't have much trouble falling asleep when taps sounds and the lights go out at 10 o'clock. But Capt. C. C. Hincks — who will be well remembered as an Andover boy — tells me that his work keeps him busy practically every evening. After six months at Plattsburg and a like period here, he is Adjutant of the 1st Battalion of the 303rd Field Artillery. Games and the singing of songs which we are assured "will help us on hikes, particularly on the last, long, mile," vary the daily program, while from time to time an officer or non-com. "calls us into the mess hall for instruction in the various things a soldier must know."

These are but a few side-lights on our experiences as we learn to "fight the good fight" in the "faith" that we will be used to ensure the triumph of the right and confident also that the people at home will continue to hold up our hands until the desired ends are achieved.

Although the following list is not complete in some details, it will give an idea of how the Andover men have gone their various ways:—

Cunningham, Manning and J. A. Quinn to the 301st Infantry; Deymond and Colbath 302nd Infantry Company K; McCarthy 303rd Infantry, C. Company; Nunn and P. D. Quinn, 304th Infantry, Company D; Roggermann and Markey, 302nd Machine Gun Battalion, Companies A and B respectively; English, Greenwood and Johnson, 301st Engineers; Kydd, Morrill and Thaxter Eaton 36th Company, 9th Battalion, Military Police; Wilson, 11th Company 3rd Battalion, Baker, Charles Eaton, Spark and Peters have been honorably discharged and are doubtless doing whatever they can to further the cause in which we are all engaged.

Very sincerely,

Thaxter Eaton

VACATION ZONES FOR U. S. SOLDIERS

Men on Leave Go to Interesting Places in France

ARRANGEMENTS BY Y. M. C. A.

Pleasure Trips Are Arranged for Men Who Get Seven-Day Furloughs—Free Transportation Provided for Men Who Spend Leave in Centers Selected by Army—Are Given Liberty of Action.

Between three hundred and five hundred American soldiers are arriving or leaving Aix-les-Bains each day via trains. Smaller numbers are entering and leaving the towns of Chambery, Challes-les-Eaux and other places in the department of Savoie, which has been selected as the first great leave center of the American army. These soldiers are America's first "permissibles" on general leave. All of the first arrivals have been members of the first expedition to reach France, and likewise the first to see active service in the trenches.

The question of taking care of men on leave has been one of the most important recreation problems with which the United States army has had to deal. After consulting with representatives of the Young Men's Christian association and other welfare organizations it was decided to experiment with the scheme of selecting in turn various interesting places in France to which the men could be sent. General orders were then issued granting each officer and man in France a leave of seven days, exclusive of travel time, once every four months. Free transportation is provided to men who spend their leave in centers selected by the army. Leave to Paris and other cities in France outside the leave area is only provided in exceptional cases.

Y. M. C. A. Takes Hold:

When the army selected the department of Savoie as the first leave area the Young Men's Christian association immediately began to make arrangements for the reception of the men. Arrangements were first made with hotel proprietors whereby they would open their hotels earlier than usual and reserve a certain percentage of their rooms for soldiers. All hotels in the department, which contracted with the Young Men's Christian association to provide the necessary accommodations were divided into three classes, according to the rates to be charged. These rates were fixed at 11, 14 and 17 francs a day for room and board, with the understanding that no tips were to be given by the men. Each hotel also agreed to furnish the men with a hot bath upon their arrival.

At Aix-les-Bains the Young Men's Christian association leased the big casino for the exclusive use of the soldiers. This includes a large theater, assembly hall and reading, writing, billiard and game rooms. Afternoon and evening concerts and theatricals are given in the theater with both professional and amateur talent as attractions. The soldiers have made full use of the handsome casino, which is in operation from nine o'clock in the morning until late at night. The Young Men's Christian association has also leased the casino at Challes-les-Eaux and theaters in other towns.

The famous thermal baths at Aix-les-Bains also have been thrown open to the soldiers for a nominal fee, and they are proving very popular, especially among those men who arrive in Aix fresh from the trenches of northern France. A number of playgrounds and fields have also been leased where baseball diamonds, football gridirons and outdoor basketball and tennis courts are being laid out.

A small steam launch on Lake Bourget has been engaged for the season and is used to take soldiers on excursions about the lake, including visits to the noted Hautecombe abbey, where 43 princes of the Italian reigning house of Savoy are buried.

Given Liberty of Action, Automobile drives have been started, and each morning hiking parties start on trips to the summits of neighboring mountains. Good use is also being made of the mountain railway which climbs to the summit of Mont Revard, from which one gets a splendid view of the famous Mont Blanc.

No attempt has been made to dictate what the men should do on leave. They have been given liberty of action within the necessary limitation of military rules and regulations. French police authorities are co-operating with American army officers to protect the morals of the men. Stringent orders have been issued to hotel and cafe keepers about the sale of spirituous liquors to men on leave. All suspicious resorts have been closed or declared "out of bounds," but there have been very few places of this nature.

A committee of women Young Men's Christian association workers has undertaken the task of having the clothes of the soldiers laundered and mended. This service is highly appreciated, because trenches are hard on clothes and but few of the soldiers are adept with the needle and thread.

The cosmopolitan nature of America's army is indicated by the fact that 30 states and 12 nationalities are represented in the first two contingents of soldiers to arrive on leave.

All of the boys on leave are in good spirits and confident that the allies can defeat Germany.

On duty that day was a sentry who was reliable but slow. He was in front of headquarters while the guard, basking the visitor's rank, waited "at rest" on a nearby bench where they could instantly be galvanized into attention.

"Do you know the general by sight?" asked the officer of the day.

The guard did not. He knew the general only by reputation.

"He will come up in an automobile and there will be a badge with stars on the windshield," explained another officer.

"Yes, sir," said the sentry.

"And the minute you see that automobile stop, you give the order, 'Turn out the guard!' Do you understand?" said the officer of the day.

"Yes, sir," said the sentry.

The sentry walked back and forth and waited for three o'clock. The clock in the village church showed 3, then 3:30, then 4, then 4:15, and the sentry was wondering whether he could coax the cook into "seconds" on the helpings of jam that night. Around the corner whirled an automobile, came to a sudden stop and an alert officer stepped out. The sentry saluted, for he was a stickler for saluting. He stood rigid as the officer with a quick glance around stepped over to him.

"Where is the guard?" he asked.

"The guard?" echoed the sentry, who had never before spoken to such a high ranking officer.

"The guard?" he repeated as visions of jam faded before the realities of stars which he glimpsed on the windshield.

"Oh, yes, sir. You're the officer who was going to be here at three o'clock!"

IN A YEAR

By AMELIA JOSEPHINE BURR of the Vigilantes.

What has a twelvemonth wrought in us? Ask of those eyes that strain

For a last look at the homeland from the widows of the train;
Search to the sacred uttermost the meaning of those eyes,
For they have learned from Calvary the soul of sacrifice.

Ask of the women and the men who put their dreams away
To glory in stern drudgery—yes, ask of those who stay!

What has a twelvemonth wrought in us? Ask your own heart and mind

What selfless hopes are strong in you, what dross is left behind?

Though they may bend, though they may break the line we hold so well,
Though guns may carry miles untold their devil-driven shell,

The strength which has been born to us in this, the world's red night,
Will carry through the pit of hell and up to Heaven's light!

CALL MARINES "DEVIL DOGS"

Soldiers of Sea Proud of Title Conferred on Them by Germans.

That time-honored nickname borne by the United States marines for generations—"leathernecks"—is no more! At least, the Germans have abandoned it, according to reports from France.

In its place the Teutons have handed the sea-soldiers one with far more meaning. They call the American scrappers "teufel hunden," which, in English, means "devil dogs."

"Gee, those guys rank us with the 'Ladies from Hell,'" declared a grizzled old marine sergeant, swelling with pride, when he heard the new title.

WAR BULLETINS

General Foch has struck back on both sides of the big Aisne salient, taking several villages and driving back the Huns south of Soissons and below Rheims.

French and Germans are fighting in Chateau-Thierry, on the banks of the Marne. The allied lines are everywhere stiffening.

Germans captured La Pompe, one of the Rheims forts, but it was immediately retaken.

The Kaiser is traveling in a camouflaged automobile to points near the front.

On the flanks of the great Aisne salient the French have fought stubbornly and materially retarded the enemy advance. Southwest of Rheims a French counter attack drove the enemy out of Thillois, which he had captured May 29.

Along an 80 mile front Ludendorff is now striking for Paris, 45 miles away. In the center so far he has scored his maximum success.

The Germans have now thrown 45 divisions into the new battle. Most of Ludendorff's remaining reserves are still held in the north. Whether he will shift these to the Marne front in an attempt to reach a decision will be decided soon.

Berlin claims that 35,000 prisoners so far have been captured. The booty is described as "tremendous." Guns of every description, including railway guns of the heaviest caliber, were captured, the German statement says, adding: "The impetuous advance of our attacking troops prevented the enemy from carrying back rich war provisions heaped up in large depots in the captured territories."

Obituary

MRS ANNIE T. STEVENSON

Mrs. Annie T. Stevenson, wife of Virley Stevenson died last Monday, after a long illness at the age of 46 years, 11 months. The deceased was born in Ballardvale and had always lived here. Besides her husband she leaves three sons; Clinton, Joseph and Arthur to mourn her loss. The funeral was held Wednesday forenoon from St. Joseph's Church. Interment in St. Augustine's Cemetery, Andover.

The floral tributes were very beautiful and consisted of the following:

Pillow inscribed wife and mother from the family; wreath from John Clinton and family; wreath from Mr. and Mrs. Burton and Mrs. Levi Lane; wreath inscribed Aunt Joe and Louise Bishop; spray, Mrs. John Gallan and Mrs. McGraw; spray, Mr. and Mrs.

Bunker; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Pond; spray, Mr. and Mrs. James Clinton; spray, Mr. and Mrs. John Garvin; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. George Dane; spiritual bouquets: Mr. and Mrs. Corneilus, Mrs. Hoffman, John Moriarty, Mr. and Mrs. John Cronin, Annie G. McDonald, Mrs. Finley Nicholson, Mrs. Mary Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Keon, Burke Family, Mrs. Richard Sherry, Mrs. Louise Bishop, Mrs. J. J. Boner, The Misses Ellen and Katherine Flaherty, Miss Christine McDonald.

Memorial Library Notes

The number of books issued for home use at the Memorial Hall library during May, was 2580. At Ballardvale, 421 were borrowed.

Baedecker's guidebooks to the countries of western Europe are badly needed by the War Department in order to give officers and men detailed information to help them become accustomed to the different localities. These are practically all out of print and cannot be purchased, therefore must be asked as gifts from those who chance to have kept them after a trip to Europe. They will be a great help and are wanted at once. Anybody in Andover who has these volumes and is willing to turn them over for army use is asked to bring them to the Memorial Hall Library, where they will be sent to the proper place.

W. S. S. Sales

The local letter carriers sold $1607.37 worth of thrift and war savings stamps Tuesday afternoon. The amounts sold by the different carriers follow:

Joseph Blunt, $907.50; John A. Burt, $451.91; Raymond McIntosh, $101.72; John Lewis, $80.19; James Feeney, $55.86.

The total amount of sales in May was $13,313 and the grand total is $29,357.79 which is a very creditable showing for the town.

Organ Recital

Tuesday evening of next week a recital of more than ordinary interest will be given in the Stone Chapel by Carl F. Platteicher director of music at Phillips Academy.

The program will consist of six organ Sonatas of Johann Sebastian Bach as follows:

Sonata No. 1, E flat major Allegro moderato
Allegro
Sonata No. 2, C minor
Vivace
Sonata No. 3, D minor
Andante
Adagio e dolce
(In memoriam Prof. Wm. H. Ryder)
Vivace
Sonata No. 4, E minor
Andante
Un poco Allegro
Sonata No. 5, C major
Allegro
Allegro
Sonata No. 6, G major
Vivace
Allegro

The sonatas were probably written during Bach's first year in Leipzig, i. e., between 1723-1727. In all likelihood they were intended for Friedemann Bach his favorite son. In musical circles they are much enjoyed and form the "Gradus ad Parnassum" for every organist. Critics cannot speak enough of their beauty, and aesthetic enjoyment.

Draper Prize Speaking

The fifty-second annual speaking of selected declamations for the Draper prizes will be held on Wednesday evening, June 12, at the Stone Chapel. The public is cordially invited. The program follows:

Local Man Overseas

Major E. V. French of School street has arrived safely overseas, according to a cablegram received by Mrs. French. Major French is in the Engineers' Corps and will have charge of fire protection of all the buildings and store bases of the United States Army in France.

Andover Men Return

Lieut.-Col. Marlborough Churchill, son of Mrs. J. W. Churchill, Bartlett street, arrived in New York City recently and reported at Washington for service in this country. Col. Churchill was a member of General Pershing's staff in France.

Lieut. Frank L. Smith, son of Chief of Police Frank M. Smith, has also returned from France and spent Monday in town with his parents. He left for New York, Tuesday and expects to return for a brief furlough before being stationed at a southern camp as instructor.

The King's Daughters

Last Monday evening the Courteous Circle of the King's Daughters of the South Church held a meeting with Miss Madeline Hewes, Porter Road and a good attendance was present.

The devotional exercises were in charge of Miss Hewes, who also gave a very interesting account of the recent King's Daughters' convention in Philadelphia, which she attended. Resolutions on the death of Mrs. J. W. Barnard, who was an interested member of the Circle, were adopted, and ordered spread upon the records and a copy sent to the family. It was announced that the circle, which at its last meeting voted to adopt a French War orphan, has charge of the upkeep of a little girl. War work sewing was part of the program.

Letter from Andover Boy in France

The following letter from James Dugan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dugan of Highland road, shows he is not forgetting his Andover home.

May 12, 1918

Dear Mother:—
This being Mothers' Day I thought I would write you a letter to show you my thoughts are with you today and hope you are in the best of health, as the departure of this letter finds me.

I think this will be the year that many a boy, including myself, will realize what the love of a mother means. Here we are, today, over three thousand miles from home; most of us are but boys but are doing a man's job today and doing it well. When a fellow figures how useless he was in civil life he feels almost ashamed of himself now. We have had a few showers of lead here and are mighty lucky to go through them safely.

Well, by what I read in the papers, Andover is certainly doing wonderful work, both at buying Liberty Bonds and sending men to the big training camps. I also saw where Pete was home on furlough, having finished his third trip. I am glad he is having such wonderful luck. And he surely picked the soft part of the life, but he is not taking the chances we are and that is where the fun comes in. It might please him to know that there are five men in the battery that were drafted and came over on his boat in the middle of January.

Well, I will close now, hoping you will enjoy Mothers' Day and that next year I will be with you.

JIM

I. O. O. F. Memorial Service

Next Sunday evening at 7.15 o'clock a memorial service will be held in the Baptist church for the local lodge of Oddfellows. Rev. E. H. Prescott will preach an appropriate sermon. All Oddfellows are asked to meet at the lodge rooms at 7 o'clock sharp.

Men for Camp Devens

The following men left town this morning for Camp Devens to take the places of those who have been rejected: Joseph Paquette, and Lewis N. Mears and Henry Joseph Trow of Ballardvale.

Christ Church Notes

It is expected that the Sunday School will have its closing session and service on June 23, thus leaving only three more meetings to be held. If the picnic comes to pass, it is planned to hold it on June 22. The children will hear full particulars in the school.

The rector expects to be away on Sundays in August this summer. Rev. Frederic Palmer, D.D., will be the preacher on the four Sundays in August.

W. S. S. Local Campaign

Another war-time campaign will be launched in Andover June 23 at 8 p. m., in the Town Hall, when a Mass Meeting will be held in the interest of War Savings Stamps. At this meeting Attorney Joseph L. Burns will preside and it is expected that a returned soldier will speak. An intensive campaign will begin June 24th and continue through the 27th and will be in charge of committees of ladies under Mrs. Charles S. Buchan in connection with the state wide campaign.

Andover's quota is $115,000. The local committees in charge are the following: Frederic G. Moore, Chairman; Wm. B. Cheever, Frank L. Cole, Herbert E. Russell, Frank McDonald and W.D. Yates.

Andover Men for Special Service

The following are volunteers for special training to go June 15: To Wentworth Institute, Boston: John Henry Platt and Elmer Baron Mears, Ballardvale; to Newtonville High School, James Pascal Shattuck and Robert A. Borneman, Andover.

Flag Day to be Observed

General Wm. F. Bartlett Women's Relief corps, No. 127, will hold patriotic exercises in observance of the national Flag day in the town hall on Friday evening, June 14 at 8 o'clock.

The public is cordially invited to attend and an attractive program has been arranged by the patriotic instructor, Mrs. James Feeney.

A collection will be taken for the benefit of the Red Cross.

The following program has been arranged:

Cat Needed Tuning

The landlady bustled up to her new lodger as he came down to breakfast the first morning.

"Good-morning, sir," she wheezed.

"Good-morning," said the lodger.

"I hope you've had a good night's rest," said the landlady.

"No," said the mild-mannered little man. "Your cat kept me awake."

"Oh," said the landlady, tossing her head. "I suppose you're going to ask me to have the poor thing killed."

"No, not exactly," said the gentle lodger. "But would you very much mind having it tuned?"—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.
